

Robert L. Lorber, Ph.D.

Dr. Robert L. Lorber is President of The Lorber Kamai Consulting Group, a firm formed in 1976. The organization has implemented productivity improvement systems for companies on five continents. The Lorber Kamai Consulting Group's client roster has included Kraft Foods, SantaFe International, Teichert Inc., Occidental Petroleum, Gillette, Sutter Health, American Express, Mattel, AlliedSignal, Raley's, VSP, Teichert Inc., Maxtor, ETS, Wells Fargo, Waste Connections, Pillsbury, Pfizer, Kaufman and Broad, Tower Records, PRIDE Industries, and many other medium-size and Fortune 500 companies.

Dr. Lorber is an internationally recognized expert and published author on executive coaching, performance management, leadership, teamwork, culture, and developing strategy. He is one of the leading resources worldwide on executive coaching with Chief Executive Officers and Senior Executives. He is the co-author of the New York Times bestseller Putting The One Minute Manager To Work, which he created with the renowned management consultant Dr. Ken Blanchard, One Page Management, co-authored with Dr. Riaz Khadem, and Safety 2/7 with Greg Anderson. Another book, Doing What Matters with Jim Kilts, CEO of Gillette, was released by Random House in September 2007 with a forward by Warren Buffet. Dr. Lorber's most recent book, Who Are You and What Do You Want?, co-written with Dr. Mick Ukleja, was published in May 2008.

Dr. Lorber is an established professional speaker who has delivered presentations for profit and non-profit audiences throughout the world. He has also shared his insights with television, radio and newspaper audiences across the country. In October 2007, Dr. Lorber served as the first William Dickson Leader-in-Residence for the Ukleja Center for Ethical Leadership at California State University, Long Beach, sharing his extensive business and leadership expertise with students, faculty, and community leaders.

Dr. Lorber works with numerous Boards of Directors on Governance and effective Board participation. Currently he serves as Chair of the Dean's Advisory Council for the Graduate School of Management at UC Davis, the UC Davis School of Medicine's Board of Visitors, and many other corporate and nonprofit boards. Some of these include: Tower Records, The Blanchard Companies, Basic American Industries, The Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation, The Sacramento Region Community Foundation, Sukut Construction, Sacramento Entrepreneurship Academy, LeadershipTraQ, J&M Realty, Co-Chair of the PRIDE Foundation, the Governing Council of the Ukleja Center for Ethical Leadership

In addition to his executive coaching, consulting, writing, and speaking pursuits, Dr. Lorber is a an Associate Professor of his alma mater, the Graduate School of Management of the University of California at Davis, where he teaches two courses on Leadership. Dr. Lorber received a Masters Degree in Sociology and a Ph.D. in Organizational Psychology. He resides in Davis, California with his wife, Sandy, and their three daughters, Tracie, Lindie, and Kaylie.