

HANNAH-HANH D. NGUYEN, PH.D.

Hannah-Hanh D. Nguyen is an Assistant Professor of Industrial-Organizational Psychology for the Department of Psychology at California State University, Long Beach. She also serves as Executive Faculty for the Master of Science in Health Care Administration Accelerated Program in the Department of Health Care Administration at CSULB.

In addition, Nguyen is a Research Fellow at the Center for Multicultural Psychology Research at Michigan State University and a part-time Research Scientist at the Center for Innovation and Strategic Human Resource Management at Jiangxi University of Finance and Economics in P.R. China.

Nguyen earned her B.A. in Psychology from CSULB and M.A. and Ph.D. in Industrial-Organizational Psychology from Michigan State University. Nguyen has recently published in the Journal of Applied Psychology, Journal of Organizational Behavior, Human Performance, and International Journal of Conflict Management. Her current research interests include Asian entrepreneurs' psychological profile, the effect of social networking websites on job-seeking behaviors, Asian conflict management strategies, hiring discrimination against job applicants of Middle-Eastern descent, and invisible stigmas in the workplace.