To qualify to earn graduate credit in the senior year, a student must have successfully completed a minimum of 90 units applicable toward the baccalaureate degree, have complied a minimum grade-point average of 3.0 in the major, and demonstrate the potential for academic achievement in graduate-level courses, as certified by the appropriate faculty of the graduate department.

400- and 500-Level Courses (a maximum of 12 Semester Units) to be applied toward a Graduate Degree or Graduate Certificate [NOTE: Undergraduates may not take any courses numbered 600 or above]:

Department	Course #	Short Title	Units

The courses listed above are not being applied toward my undergraduate major, minor, certificate, teaching credential, or any other academic program which I am currently pursuing. These courses are in excess of the total number of course units required for the baccalaureate degree shown above. I understand that successful completion of these courses does not assure their acceptance as part of a graduate degree program. Graduate degree programs are only approved at the time of advancement to candidacy for a graduate degree.
