

UNIVERSITY INFORMATION

The campus is located in the center of the greater Los Angeles area. This major metropolitan region includes over fourteen million people in an area of 38,000 square miles. It includes six counties, 153 cities, and hundreds of special districts, school districts, government councils, and other public agencies that are a part of modern urban government. In population and income, Los Angeles County is larger than forty-one states.

California State University, Long Beach, is a 322-acre, beautifully landscaped campus. The university is comprised of seventy academic departments, eight centers, five institutes, and three clinics. In addition, the university is home to KLON FM-88, the premier jazz radio station, the Pyramid Events Center, the Richard and Karen Carpenter Performing Arts Center, and the Earl Burns Miller Japanese Garden. The university library holds over one million volumes. Currently, over 30,000 students attend the university, which is accredited by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges. It is the mission of the university to promote intellectual and personal development, to prepare students for lifelong learning and to succeed in a variety of professional endeavors, and function as informed, contributing members of the community.