

Developing Leaders in the Business of Sport

The current Learning Teams will join together in early November for a chance to fully network with one another as well as meet Alumni of the program. Like the bi-annual Roundtable (see below), this event brings sport professionals and opportunities to the current students. Created by Internship Coordinator Charles Harris, the event was held with great success last time, as sport industry leaders such as Bob Wagner (VP of Sales & Marketing, Anaheim Ducks), Patrick McClenahan (President & GM, CBS 2 and KCAL 9), and Joann Klonowski (top female executive with 25+ years of sport industry experience) spoke to the graduate students about their experiences.

The second time around, the event will feature former students of the graduate program. Abby Bacon of Learning Team 9 (Event Manager Rose Bowl Operating Company), Angela LaChica of Learning Team 5 (VP, San Diego Sports Commission), and Craig Johnson of Learning Team 10 (Senior Research Analyst, CBS) will be in attendance.

Congratulations to former Graduate Assistant Randy Garcia for securing a position with the LA Marathon. Randy graduated in summer of 2010 as part of Learning Team 16. Good luck Randy!

Students In The Industry

Morgan Spokny is “The Spokester”

The Bottom Line Sport Show is one of the hottest sports shows on the internet, and features Learning Team 17’s Morgan Spokny. Known as “The Spokester”, Morgan is a co-host for the talk show, writer, editor, board operator, and assists in operations. His talk show features guests such as athletes, sport executives, and entertainment personalities. The show focuses on weekly sporting events and showcases both former and current professional athletes.

Chelsea Pereira of Learning Team 18 was selected to attend the National Intramural-Recreational Sports Association (NIRSA) Regional Conference held in Berkley, CA. The conference will be from November 3-5 with two administrators and the Intramurals Graduate Assistant from the Student Recreation and Wellness Center (SRWC) along with Pereira. “I am very excited for the opportunity to attend my first NIRSA conference and bring back some new experiences and knowledge to the SRWC”, says Chelsea.

Chelsea in the past has been a personal trainer for a variety of fitness organizations. She is routinely working in the Intramural Office here on campus as the Graduate Assistant Fitness Coordinator.

January 27th, 2011 – Networking Event with current Learning Teams, Alumni, and Sport Professionals. Afterwards, Long Beach St. Women’s Basketball vs. University of Pacific. More details to come soon!
