

The Levine Communications Office Intern Program is one of the best and most dynamic in the industry. Over the last 25 years, more than 3,000 people from all over the world began their professional careers as interns for LCO, and an estimated 250 have continued to establish themselves in prominent positions within the entertainment industry.

We are currently accepting candidates!

The LCO internship program is in-depth and challenging. The bulk of which consists of one-on-one meetings with Michael Levine, the founder of LCO, whose clientele has included Cameron Diaz, Sandra Bullock, David Bowie, Prince, George Carlin, among many others. This specific position is one of the most coveted in the firm as it involves working directly under Michael Levine, in support of his career. At LCO, we demand accountability, commitment, and a dedication to excellence. Self starters with an eagerness to learn are ideal candidates for this internship, which will open the door to a one of a kind experience and knowledge that has proven to be valuable professionally and personally. Currently, the position is available to students who are open Monday-Wednesday, or Thursday – Friday from 9:30-7:30p.m. and who wish to obtain an in-depth experience as a member of a team supporting an entertainment industry executive. After having completed the term, you will receive a diploma and letter of recommendation from Michael Levine. The LCO internship is among the most intensive and rewarding programs available for students interested in P.R., as the opportunities are truly limitless for those with the drive to succeed.

This is an ideal opportunity for a public relations/communications/business student.

No experience necessary.
