

New Online Music Magazine in Search of Writers and Photographers!!!

SoundsGood is a new online music magazine that focuses on the music scenes that have a pulse and includes acts who are not merely trying to become popular. The goal is to give exposure to well-known musicians along with up-and-comers. The website is set up to get information about good music out to its readers and not about being flashy. The website is just starting out. SoundsGood features music ranging from rock, punk, hardcore, ska and indie to hip hop. The articles are direct and to the point.
