Germany

Germany

Experience new things, have fun and relax. Germany features vibrant cities with amazing architecture as well as fabulous shopping and nightlife. You will enjoy enchanting medieval villages with friendly festivals and regional specialties; picturesque countryside which is perfect for walking or simply relaxing; castles, palaces and abbeys; sports, wellness, and relaxation.

Hamburg, Germany

In the north of Germany, in the heart of Europe—Hamburg is Germany's second largest city (1.8 million inhabitants) and offers excellent quality of life and an international flair. If you like to spend your leisure time out of doors, then you will love Europe's greenest city with its large lake and numerous canals in the center of town. You will also find culture in all its variations— theatre, museums, exhibitions as well as music (in concert and in clubs). For more information on the city of Hamburg visit: www.hamburg-tourism.de or www.hamburg.de

Hamburg University of Applied Sciences (HAW Hamburg)

1,600 international students study at Hamburg University of Applied Sciences (14 % of all students), representing over 100 nations. Their international guest students come from partner universities throughout Europe as well as from North and South America, Asia and the Middle East.

Fields of Study

Hamburg University of Applied Sciences offers a wide range of degree programmes within its four faculties. It is possible to study illustration, fashion, and costume and textile design without being fluent in German.

They also offer courses in English in the fields of

- food science;
- public health and nutrition;
- business economics and international trade and finance;
- electrical engineering;
- software engineering; and
- digital communication systems.

Practical application is their trademark: theory from lectures is put into practice in the laboratories, study projects are completed in the form of case studies, close cooperation with industry ensures a direct link to the future field of work. In addition to their academic qualifications, their professors have worked for many years in private companies and public institutions before joining the university.
