STANDARD SCHEDULING GRID – Spring 2010 (Lecture/Seminar Daytime Classes Only)

Classes with non-standard start times can create class scheduling and final exam conflicts for students, affect students' ability to enroll in classes needed to graduate, and prevent one or more classes with standard start times from using a room.

1. Follow the standard scheduling times listed below when building your schedule.
2. Run CSLink report LBSR0689 – Class Meeting Times Compliance Report, by subject or college, selecting "lec" and "sem" course components, to determine which classes do not comply.
3. Reschedule non-compliant classes at standard start times or file a request for exception as soon as possible or by September 25, 2009 at the latest. Requests submitted after the deadline may not be processed in time for registration.
