National NAVSEA Hiring Event hosted by NSWC Corona

NORCO, Calif. – On Tuesday, Nov. 10, from 3 to 8 p.m., the Naval Surface Warfare Center (NSWC), Corona Division is hosting a national hiring event to fill more than 1,500 science and engineering jobs throughout its parent command, the Naval Sea Systems Command (NAVSEA), at John F. Kennedy Middle College High School, located on the Riverside Community College Norco Campus.

The event will showcase the important work of NAVSEA's 52,000 employees at 33 field sites across the country. Job seekers, from college students to mid-career professionals, can meet with NAVSEA personnel to learn about diverse civilian employment opportunities with the Navy's largest systems command, ranging from science, engineering, math and physics to business, contracts and logistics.

Those interested can visit the event website at <http://www.corona.navy.mil/hiring/> to download the flyer and map, submit their resume or link to the Facebook event page to RSVP and watch the latest informational videos. NAVSEA jobs require U.S. citizenship.
