

Writing Proficiency of Master's and Doctoral Candidates

Supersedes Policy Statement 80-10.

Demonstration of Writing Skills Competency as a Requirement for Advancement to Candidacy for a Master's or Doctoral Degree:

1. To qualify for advancement to candidacy for a master's or doctorate, each student must be certified proficient in written composition in English. Proficiency must be demonstrated by passing the University's Writing Proficiency Examination. The responsibility for developing the skills necessary to pass the examination is the student's.

a) Students who are certified as having met this requirement previously in their baccalaureate program are exempt. There is no expiration for the prior certification.

b) The writing proficiency test required for candidates at the baccalaureate level shall be used for candidates at the graduate level.

c) The required achievement level shall be the same for graduate students as it is for baccalaureate candidates.

d) Every master's or doctoral candidate must attempt the examination during the first semester in residence at CSULB, unless a graduate student has been previously certified as having satisfactorily met the writing proficiency requirement.

e) For Master's or Doctoral degree candidates, the writing proficiency test must be passed prior to advancement to candidacy.

f) The examination may be attempted as many times as necessary, but no more than once a semester or three times a year (including the Summer Session).

2. The University Committee on Writing Proficiency shall have the responsibility of approving examinations to be used to demonstrate writing proficiency, of overseeing the administration and grading of the examinations, and of certifying to the Office of Enrollment Services that a student has met this requirement for advancement to candidacy.

3. Use of the test shall be consistent with the approved Policy Statement on "Writing Proficiency."

Implementing Procedure

1. For the details of implementation of the general University Writing Proficiency Examination, see the approved Policy Statement on "Writing Proficiency."

2. The disciplines shall counsel students about ways to develop the necessary writing skills, including:

- a. enrolling in regular university courses in writing on a voluntary basis;
- b. enrolling in courses in the discipline which develop writing skills;
- c. enrolling in special courses offered through University College and Extension Services;
- d. getting tutorial help from student organizations which provide assistance;
- e. securing tutorial help from the Learning Assistance Center;
- f. enrolling in writing courses in a community college.

3. Graduate students entering the University beginning in Spring 1995 will not be permitted to enroll in a second or subsequent semester unless they have previously satisfied the Writing Proficiency requirement or attempted the University Writing Proficiency Examination during their first semester of enrollment.

Effective Date: Spring 1995
