

Final project paper

Due Friday, December 9

There are three parts to the final project paper. Answer the questions in every part.

1. Taken together, what three themes of the course are exemplified by the data and your analyses of the two assignments? For example, do they somehow exemplify the perspective on gender we discussed throughout the course? Make sure to discuss both assignments; each theme should be addressed in both assignments (although the theme may be addressed differently). About 1000 words.
2. Choose one of the assignments and rework the explanation in light of the final unit. How do they relate to self and style, and how do these selves and styles relate to gender? About 750 words.
3. Finally, answer again what kind of man or woman you are; this time, explain how you think this affects your linguistic style. You may choose any aspect of linguistic style – word choice, accent, discourse features, etc. About 400 words.
