The minutes from the December 2, 2022 Faculty Council meeting were approved (Passed: Unanimous).

11:15 am Dean's Report (Monica Lounsbery)

The Dean informed the council that there is a petition circulating around campus to keep the Child Development Center (CFC) operating as normal. She along with the Chair of the Family and Consumer Sciences Department shared the history of the CFC with the College and the reason behind its proposed temporary closure.

The CFC is housed within the FCS Department and is a self-support center that provides childcare to over 50 families, the majority being those of faculty and staff. In 2019, The Chancellors Office authorized 12 million of one-time funding to renovate the existing space with the goal to expand access to childcare services for CSULB students. CSULB was one of two campuses to receive funding for this project. At the time, BBS helped prepare the plans for renovation using the proposed budget. Since then, the project has been delayed as the cost of renovations has increased by 25% due to labor and material shortages. The campus was also not able to identify a temporary facility that met the guidelines needed to be used while the CFC was under construction. As a result, the campus decided to close the CFC during the renovation.

In response to the concerns of the existing families that the CFC closure would affect the College hosted a townhall event on November 2, 2022 to alleviate some of the concerns. During the townhall it was shared that a temporary relocation of the CFC was not possible given that the any space used would need to be reviewed and be licensed. Secondly, any space used on campus for an extended amount of time would require that it be leased (or rented) which was not included in the initial budget.

Given the issues that have arisen as a result of the renovations and inability to find a solution to relocate the CFC during renovations the decision has been made to close the center during the planned renovations and reopen once they have been completed.
