

The College of Health and Human Services invites you to the annual

DONALD P. LAUDA WELLNESS LECTURE SERIES

Abolition: Imagining Safety Without Prisons

Co-Speaker: Dr. Mimi Kim, Associate Professor in the CSULB School of Social Work

Co-Editor of Abolition and Social Work: Possibilities, Paradoxes, and the Practice of Community Care, Dr. Mimi Kim is a long-time anti-domestic violence advocate in Asian immigrant and refugee communities and other communities of color and remains active in the promotion of community organizing, community accountability, transformative justice and restorative justice approaches to violence intervention and prevention.

Co-Speaker: Chris Johnson

Chris Johnson is the Executive Director of Success Stories, which works in places where people have committed harm and/or are survivors of systemic harm, such as prisons, jails, group homes, re-entry programs and schools. Chris worked as the Coach and local President of Success Stories while incarcerated at CTF Soledad. He holds 5 Associates Degrees in multiple disciplines.

Wednesday, March 26, 2025

2:00 pm - 3:30 pm

Anna W. Ngai Alumni Center

RSVP HERE

LONG BEACH
STATE UNIVERSITY

College of Health & Human Services