at Cal State Long Beach

Brown Issues is a leadership-based organization devoted to empowering underserved communities of color through advocating for both institutional and non-institutional educational advancement, encouraging individuals to resist patriarchal systems that limit growth, and seeking to reject destructive “gang” culture within communities. With the organization’s strong focus on equality, community engagement, and narrative change within the Latinx and other marginalized populations at CSULB, Brown Issues cultivates the next generation of Brown leaders committed to creating social and political change both on and off campus.
