GWAR Coordinator's Report

GWAR leaders recently met with CSULB Academic Tech Services (ATS) to explore a potential partnership for online support modules for students and faculty. Modules could be designed to support and guide faculty and students through the writing process, address concerns, and provide AI writing guidelines. Modules could also provide discipline-specific writing guidance.

Updates

The committee reviews the External Review Report. The external review occurred last November. The report is available on Canvas for further review. Every 7 years, programs such as GWAR go through a review process. The report is very positively framed and goes over GWAR's strengths and recommendations for the future.

Ramirez thanks the committee and reminds the committee of the upcoming meetings.
