

The mission of the Masters in Public Administration Program at the Graduate Center for Public Policy and Administration is to educate and graduate a diverse student population with the professional competencies necessary for leadership, policy and management roles in the public service and in community based and nonprofit organizations both within the Los Angeles metropolitan area and the nation. Through the promotion of excellence in professional public service, research, and education, the Center is an active partner with the public and nonprofit agencies within its service area.