Students participating in a Non-CSULB Study Abroad program, whose status is either "Warning" or "Probation" during their Study Abroad Semester, will be ineligible to receive additional federal student aid once they return from the Study Abroad semester – and will remain ineligible until their transcripts from their Study Abroad program have been received and reviewed by the CSULB Study Abroad Office. This can take up to one (1) academic year. If you participate in Study Abroad in the Fall, and your SAP Status is "Warning," you will not be eligible to receive any financial aid during the Spring semester
