

Technical Standards Policy

The Athletic Training Program (ATP) at California State University, Long Beach is a rigorous and intense program that places specific requirements and demands on the students enrolled in the program. The technical standards set forth by the CSULB ATP establish the essential qualities considered necessary for students admitted to this program to achieve the knowledge, skills, and competencies of an entry-level athletic trainer, as well as meet the expectations of the program's accrediting agency (Commission on Accreditation of Athletic Training Education [CAATE]). The following abilities and expectations must be met by all students admitted to the CSULB Athletic Training Program. In the event a student is unable to fulfill these technical standards, with or without reasonable accommodation, the student will not successfully advance through the CSULB ATP.

- Sufficient postural and neuromuscular control, sensory function, and coordination to perform appropriate physical examinations using accepted techniques; and accurately, safely and efficiently use equipment and materials during the assessment and treatment of patients.
- The ability to communicate effectively and sensitively with patients and colleagues, including individuals from different cultural and social backgrounds; this includes, but is not limited to, the ability to establish rapport with patients and communicate judgments and treatment information effectively. If a student states he/she can meet the Technical Standards with accommodation, then the University will determine whether it agrees that the student can meet the Technical Standards with reasonable accommodation. This includes a review a whether the accommodations requested are reasonable, taking into account whether accommodation would jeopardize clinician/patient safety, or the educational process of the student or the institution, including all coursework, clinical experiences and internships deemed essential to graduation
