

WAYS TO SUPPORT A FRIEND

who has been assaulted

5 Key Practices When Supporting a Survivor of Sexual Misconduct

- LISTEN to your friend. Survivors, at times, need to talk about what happened. See if they want to speak to a Campus Confidential Advocate at Advocate@csulb.edu.
- DON'T PUSH your friend. Give them the freedom to decide when, where and how to talk about their trauma.
- BELIEVE your friend. Reinforce that survivors are never to blame, and avoid language that implies it.
- BE PATIENT, your friend will need your support to get through this. Be present and create a safe and nonjudgmental space.
- ADVOCATE, contact your Campus Confidential Advocate @ 562-985-2668 OR Advocate@csulb.edu if they are a survivor of sexual misconduct.

Be a BEACH IX ALLY: Help your friend

There are several options, depending on the situation. If you see your friend engaging in at-risk behavior, involving sexual misconduct:

1. Clear Communications: If you feel safe to do so, share your concerns directly with your friend.
2. Refer to an Expert: If they are a survivor of sexual misconduct, refer them to the Campus Confidential Advocate at Advocate@csulb.edu or 562-985-2668.
3. Notify Someone for Resources: Let someone know.
 - Notify your Resident Advisor
 - Contact the Title IX Coordinator at OED@csulb.edu or call 562-985-8256.
4. Safety: If there are safety concerns, let University Police know by calling 562-985-4101. If an emergency dial 9-1-1.

Be a BEACH IX ALLY: Practice Bystander Intervention

DIRECT

Interrupt the situation and clearly express your concerns to the involved parties. Make sure they understand Affirmative Consent.

DISTRACT

Use distraction or make up an excuse to interrupt the situation.

DELEGATE

Enlist the help of others to help you interrupt a potentially dangerous situation.
